

FDA Says Bodybuilding Products Contain Steroids

The FDA has issued a public health advisory warning consumers about bodybuilding supplements manufactured by American Cellular Laboratories, Inc., saying the products contain potentially harmful synthetic steroids being marketed as "steroid-like ingredients."