

Medtronic Warns About Faulty Defibrillator Batteries

Medtronic Inc. has notified doctors that thousands of implanted defibrillators may contain faulty batteries, but the medical technology giant maintains the problem poses no great danger to patients.

If you believe that you or a loved one has been injured by one of these batteries, contact the lawyers of Lutz, Bobo & Telfair, PA and we may be able to assist you.